

GATHERED IN SOUTH SCRANTON

FUNERAL OF GEORGE PANTLE FROM FAMILY RESIDENCE

Services Were Conducted at St. Mary's German Catholic Church by Rev. Peter Christ-Dimler Arrested on a Charge of Larceny, Republicans of the Eleventh Ward Will Caucus Tonight in Schimpff's Hall—Aspirants for the Offices to Be Filled—Other Matters.

From the family home, 418 Beech street, the funeral of George Pantle took place yesterday afternoon. The sympathy for his family and respect entertained for the deceased young man was deeply evidenced by the large gathering present at the obsequies.

At 1.30 o'clock the procession moved to St. Mary's church, where services were held. Rev. Peter Christ officiating. A fitting and eloquent tribute was paid by Father Christ to the memory of Mr. Pantle, whom he knew since infancy. The remains were laid to rest in the cathedral cemetery. The pallbearers were August Heier, John and Leonard Metzger, John Zeck, Albert Somme and Christian Bahren. Fred Heier and Williams carried the floral pieces. From the hall and flower-bearers who were his closest friends, a beautiful pillow, inscribed "Our Comrade," was sent. The words "Our Brother" were on another pillow from his sisters and brothers.

STOLE A COAT. Fred Dimler, of this side, was arraigned before Alderman Lentz yesterday morning on the charge of larceny. He is accused of taking from Kaestner's hotel an overcoat belonging to Fred Storr, Saturday night. The defendant was arrested by Constable Woodlark in a resort on lower Lackawanna avenue.

On a search warrant, the coat was found in the house where Dimler was arrested. He was held in $1,000 bail for his appearance at court. The young man was committed to the county jail.

WARD CAUCUSES.

The Republicans of the Eleventh ward will assemble in caucus in Schimpff's hall tonight for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for select and common council, constable, ward assessor and other minor offices.

For the select council and constable nominations, lively fighting will be done. John J. Schneider, Philip Wirth, the present common councilman, and Charles Stone are the aspirants for the biggest honor. Any of the trio will make a strong candidate.

Jacob Koons, Fred Mink, John Fink and Sergeant Edward Conley are the candidates for constable. Henry Boettcher will be unopposed for the common council nomination. A big effort has been made to get Charles Webber, of Cedar avenue, to consent to allow his name to be presented for that office. He will be a candidate, he stated to a Tribune man last night. The Democrats will caucus at the same hall Thursday night. The leaders are having difficulty in getting an available candidate for select council. Gus Schimpff has been prominently mentioned, but his announcement of being an aspirant was to not let the nomination fall by default. He is perfectly willing to retire if another man will consent to run. Charles Roar, of Cedar avenue, a clerk in the city controller's office, who was being boomed early in the campaign will not state that he is a candidate. To the reporter, he said, last night, that he had not decided to be or not to be a candidate. Fred Phillips and George Rosen are looking for common council. The former appears to be in the lead. Joseph Woelkers, the present constable will be renominated by acclamation.

MINOOKA.

The Democratic pre-arranged conference convened at Diskin's hotel yesterday afternoon and apportioned the berths according to edict of the manipulators of the political checker-board. The only thing to mar the stillness of the occasion was the vigorous protest of one of the conferees, whose impressive eloquence was in evidence throughout the session. Just how they saw their way clear to send two officers to Moscow, and the latter place being shorn away from the township, is more than the political prophets can measure. The following allotment was the outcome of the session: West district, school director and justice of the peace; Northeast district, school director and auditor; Southwest district, constable, clerk and supervisor; South district, treasurer, school director, auditor and supervisor. The primaries will be held Wednesday evening, between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock.

DAY'S DOINGS IN DUNMORE BOROUGH

NARROW ESCAPE OF THOMAS M'DONNELL FROM DEATH.

He is Employed as a Footman in the Gypsy Grove Mine and Fell Into the Sump Followed by a Car—Big Crowd at the Firemen's Fair—Funerals of Martin McDermott and Regina Horan—Frank Blickens Receives an Alligator from the South—Personal Jottings.

Thomas McDonnell, of Franklin street, Sport Hill, had a narrow escape from instant death while at his work in the Gypsy Grove colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company yesterday afternoon.

McDonnell, who is employed as a foot-tender, was doing his usual duties of placing the loaded cars on and taking the empty ones off the carriage, when he stepped backwards and fell into the "sump," the car coming down on top of him. He had failed to notice that the carriage was not at the landing, hence his fall. The space where he was caught by the car was not great, and this probably saved his life, as it held the carriage, which was on its downward journey, from squeezing him.

When taken out it was found that his right knee was severely injured by the car falling upon it. He was removed to his home and Dr. Garvey called in, who, stated, after a careful examination, that no serious results are entertained, although he will be confined to his home for some time to come.

ed March 31, 1888, was $345,543, and the local taxation account contributed $578,922 to the police fund during the year. The sum of the force alone, including chief constables, superintendents, inspectors, sergeants and constables, was $1,218,714.

The total number of criminal offenses reported to the metropolitan police last year was 18,424, as compared with 18,756 in 1896, 20,024 in 1895 and 20,570 in 1894. As regards felonies relating to property, the proportion per thousand of the population was 2.524—the lowest on record. In 1867 the proportion was 6.170. There were eighteen cases of murder; two of the accused were tried and acquitted and five others were found to be insane. In three cases the trials resulted in conviction and death sentences, while four cases remain to be accounted for. One of these, the case of Elizabeth Cummins, who was tried in London and Southwestern railway carriage at Waterloo, on February 11, the body was removed from the railway station to St. Thomas' Hospital, and thence, after a medical inspection, it was sent to the mortuary, the police remaining in ignorance that any crime had been committed. During the time that this elapsed the murderer was drinking in a certain public house, but the opportunity of taking him red-handed, "locking" and justice was afforded. The last case to be accounted for is that of a child of six, found strangled in a field at Upton on September 15, and this sad case unfortunately remains in the fullest sense an "undiscovered country."

During the year 16,676 carriages were licensed, 7,925 being two-wheeled, 3,583 four-wheeled, 3,190 omnibuses and 1,378 tramway cars. The new carriages numbered 1,421. There were 25,665 licensed drivers and conductors. The practice of conveying large packages of luggage on the roofs of hansom cabs, so as to prevent the driver from having a proper view of the roadway and complete control over the horse, has resulted in many serious and in more than one case fatal accidents. It has therefore been found necessary specially to caution all such drivers that serious notice will be taken of a persistence in this dangerous practice.

At the loss property office 29,161 articles were received during 1897. These included 2,681 bags, 3,028 purses, 17,434 umbrellas and 181 watches. The miscellaneous articles, 8,697 in number, included an artificial leg, a wooden bed rest, birds in cages, dogs, a gas stove, musical instruments (including a portable street harmonium) and a sewing machine. No fewer than 19,392 articles were returned to the losers. The awards paid to drivers and conductors amounted to £2,809, including three sums of £20, one of £15, one of £14, four of £8, two of £7, three of £6 and ten of £5.
